Prices, Consequently, Are Tending Higher-Larger Arrivals of Wheat, but Corn Is Being Held Back.

There is little new to note in the condi-Commission row. Eggs are in active request and while receipts are large for July, so great a part of the arrivals are poor that the loss is heavy to the shipper. Flour carries a weak tone. The provision market is healthy in character, domestic demand, as usual in midsummer, for smoked meats being large, with prices steady at the revision of Monday last. The grocery market is fairly active, sugars and coffees being in active request. In canned goods and dried fruits little is doing. The iron and hardware stores are enjoying an unusually large trade for midsummer, as so @1.50 much building is in progress in the city and throughout the State. Seeds are quiet at unchanged prices. While receipts of wheat are increasing receipts of corn fall short of expectations, and the cerealins mills are finding it difficult to keep in operation and do not attempt to run to full capacity. The local flouring mills are buying a good deal of wheat, are running steadily and for the time being are doing better than at any time in months past. 300. The receipts of cattle so far this week show an increase of about 200 over the same time last week. The receipts to-day were about 150 larger than last Tuesday, and nearly 300 larger than a year ago. The arrivals consisted principally of stockers and feeding cattle, and fairly fat kinds lacking in quality and finish, and the receipts of strictly choice fat stuff were small. About the usual number of buyers were it the market, but apparently there were no urgent orders, and the trading from the start was slow and uneven. In most instances salesmen realized about last Friday's prices for strictly choice stock, but there was no fixed price for undesirable cattle of any kind, and in most instances Local dealers take all that are offered. The the buyers' price was the sellers'. The market is not in the best condition, and there is market is about as unsatisfactory as it but little hope of immediate improvement. One

The receipts of hogs for two days show an increase of over 1,000 compared with the same time last week, and the receipts today were nearly 1,000 larger than a week ago and a year ago. Ordinarily the supply would not have been liberal, but there were not as many shipping orders as there have been recently, and with packers believing that they have been forced to pay a premium for their hogs here recently the premium for their hogs here recently the conditions were very favorable for a sharp reaction in prices. At the start shippers were the only buyers in the market and they were filling their orders at about 15c lower prices. Their requirements, how-ever, did not make a very big hole in the supply and packers had things much their own way. They bought a few loads of the best heavy hogs at fully 10c lower prices, but generally they expected about 15c decline, and some salesmen claimed they had to accept 20c lower prices for light hogs in several instances. Naturally the market was very dull and it took a long time to consummate sales, but finally a good clearance was made and the closing was quiet. Sales ranged from $5.821/2 to $6.071/2 and a very small proportion of the supply sold above $5.95. As usual, workers predominated in the offerings, and there were not many really common horses. There was a very good attendance of buyers, especially from Eastern points, and the market opened with more life in the bidding than there has been for some time past. It seemed that the demand was good for all classes, and therefore the offerings changed hands promptly. High-acting coach teams sold as high as $500, and single drivers sold as high as $225, with quite a number at $125@175. The best draft horses sold as high as $200@225, and most of the supply of good ones brought $140@160. Ordinary drivers and workers did not sell as readily as other grades and brought from $40 to $75. The market was very satisfactory to salesmen and owners. Among the principal consignors were Alonzo Young, McDaniels & Conners, G. W. Black, J. M. Fleming, George B. Lanham and Cass Woodruff, all of this State. The principal buyers were J. C. Combs, East Berkshire, Vt.; Charles McCoy, Charleston, S. C.; Robert Miller, Glasgow, Scotland; Herman Stones, East Buffale, N. Y.; James Nelson, West Paulet, Vt., and M. H. Reardon, Greater New York. The sale of Western range horses, which took place before and after the regular auction sales, was one of the most successful events of the kind ever held in this market. Warman, Black, Chamberlain & Co. conducted the sale and offered nearly 800 head, that were all sold and at very satisfactory prices. There was a large number of buyers, and all of the available space was occupied by spectators, who were curious to see "wild horses." There was very lively bidding, and a good many dealers were surprised at the result. It is true, however, that many of the offerings were
